

-----
Title: No Translation Needed

Author: Cear Dallben
-----

"The four traitors have been sent through the Justice Vasgres into the void. We who remain have ensured the bal-lem is imprisoned. The last Vasgres, at Sacrifice, between the Arktermars are now sealed. Ensuring safety of our people and of all who exist outside our world. We can live out our last days knowing we have done what is just and that we have restored Mistas. To my friends who have sacrificed themselves, may Virtue shine upon you always."

"The bal-lem (a word here is scratched out) has taken the north tower and made it rubble."

"(a word here scratched out) has come. He is bal-lem, he seeks to be Anilem."

"The bal-lem is in league with the Anorlor fiends. Together they seek our doom."

"The eight have offered themselves to seal the bal-lem (a word here scratched out) for eternity in the prison we have made. May Virtue guide them."

"The migration through the Vasgreses is near completion. If (a word here is scratched out) will be held back so that all who wish to go may escape."